

ABOUT THE PROJECT

The special darts board was developed by the Turkish University of Sützü Imam and thanks to them, the sport has become a separate sport in their country, helping the integration of visually impaired people within sport. Thanks to the European Union's Erasmus plus Sport programme, 5 European countries are joining forces to promote the physical, mental and social well-being of visually impaired people through the Darts4Blind project, which aims to improve the physical, mental and social well-being of visually impaired people through this innovative sporting tool.
